BRODHEAD STAGES
PEACE PAGEANT
ON ARMISTICE DAY

Brodhead—In spite of the weather Armistice day Thursday was a big day in Brodhead. The pageant advertised for some weeks past, was carried out to the letter, with the exception that it was held in the opera house instead of out-of-doors. A parade with nearly one hundred floats took place at about 11 o'clock immediately after the address of welcome and response. At 2 o'clock the pageant took place in the opera house as witnessed by a jammed house.

ARGENTINA READY TO CONTRIBUTE TO SUCCESS OF LEAGUE

Paris.—Argentina is ready to do her utmost to contribute to the success of the league of nations, said Hon. P. P. Puyrredon, foreign minister of that country, to a representative of the newspaper "El Mundo" in a statement made at the meeting of the league assembly, he said, "with the greatest enthusiasm, I believe in the success of the league if each nation brings to it good will. And that means that the pessimists imagine, is not incompatible with internationalism."

DISSATISFACTION IS CAUSED ON FARM
BY HIGH CITY PRICES

Madison.—The tendency of lower prices paid for farm products, while war prices are maintained on products the farmer has to buy, was cited as the cause of present dissatisfaction that might lead to far-reaching economic results by Dean H. Russell of the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Unless the condition is speedily remedied the farmer will be further discouraged and will buy more of the pre-war level. Cattle are somewhat above the pre-war basis, with hogs reaching 104 per cent. In contrast, it is pointed out, lumber is 228 per cent of the pre-war cost, pig iron 244 per cent, crude petroleum 350 per cent, coke 520 per cent and manufactured articles holding a level of like proportion.

The program of Dean Russell for development of Wisconsin agriculture is three-fold: 1. To get away from cutting down costs and disease. 2. To get away with unnecessary waste of distribution. 3. Supporting production.

Port au Prince, Haiti, Nov. 12.—Sudre Dartiguenave, president of the republic of Haiti, testifying today before the naval board of inquiry, declared he had no official knowledge of the charge of indiscriminate killing of natives by United States marines. TAX FIGHT LAID OVER TO NEXT WEEK

Until a mistake of $225,000 in the statement of the assessment of Beloit village can be corrected, the county equalization board has adjourned, leaving the question of the equalized assessment for Beloit and Janesville unsettled.

The mistake caused a readjustment in the greater part of the report of the equalization tax for the county, which will now not be ready for the equalization board to pass on until the latter part of next week. Until this time no decision can be reached in the Janesville-Beloit taxation question.

PREDICTS TURKEYS AT 40 CENTS A POUND

What is Thanksgiving with turkey for the big meat? Ask the children a few years ago the question was almost unheeded for nearly everyone had turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. But now many did without the king of the fowls because of its prohibitive price. This year many will go the same thing for turkey meat has not gone down in price, say local dealers.

Although no definite prices on what turkey will sell for around Thanksgiving (November 23), are known, it is thought that it will be between 30 and 40 cents a pound. At present turkey meat is quoted at 30 cents a pound in Chicago. One dealer estimates that duck will sell at 25 cents and chicken at about 20 cents a pound this year.

BETTER PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

invited to visit the schools and to meet the teachers. This is to get a better idea of the educational work which is being done in Janesville. There will be no special programs on this occasion but parents and others interested will be given an opportunity to see the regular school work of the pupils. The four parent-teachers' associations have offered their cooperation to make this day a success.

Mass Meeting Friday.
The windup of the campaign will be given Friday night at the high school when Prof. W. H. Kieckhefer, of the University of Wisconsin, will speak at a mass meeting on a subject which will be announced later. Mr. Kieckhefer is a man of great versatility and an excellent speaker.

The principals of the schools will be guests at the bi-weekly luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at the Myers hotel Monday noon. Supt. Hoyt will deliver a talk on "Good School Week" and outline the program of standard tests and measurements with which to decide the achievement of pupils.

CHIMNEY FIRE.
A chimney fire at the home of H. Saller, 551 Terrace street, at 3:45 Thursday afternoon did slight damage to wall paper. The fire department responded to assist alarm.

Observance in County.
That good school week is also to be observed in every rural school in the county, in the plan of C. D. Angell, county school superintendent.

A letter has been sent to every country teacher asking that she cooperate in holding at least one program in her school during the week from November 14 to 20. It was suggested that this be combined with either a social or a Thanksgiving program.

Some of the city and village principals throughout the county have promised to speak at the various country schools. Among those suggested by Mr. Antidale for the teachers to obtain as speakers are: Members of the county training school.

Seek Bigger Attendance.
"The improvement of rural school conditions is one of the main features of the entire 'Good School week,'" said Mr. Antidale. "The programs to be held will deal with the improvement suggested for country schools by the state department of education which are: consolidation of little schools; insistence on regular attendance; increase in attendance of rural schools; more publicity to educational progress made by country; and an institution of standard tests and measurements with which to decide the achievement of pupils."

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

DEAR JOE: Do you know Joe that baby of ours has a great sense of humor? I've always wondered what makes the little angel smile and laugh so much, and now I realize. It's his little sense of humor! At first glance you'd think it would be impossible for a baby only a few months old to have complete sense of humor. But at second glance, why not? Personally the way I look at it, you're either born with a sense of humor or else you're born devoid from one, and if you're born devoid from one you go the rest of the way to the grave without it. In other words, it's one of those things that if you have, you have, and if you haven't, you haven't. That remark sounds deep, Joe, but there's really nothing to it when you reason it out.

Personally I'm a great admirer of a sense of humor, but still as Mrs. Flint says, a sense of humor is nothing but a curse to the person that don't know what to laugh at.

How I first came to realize the baby had a sense of humor was when I noticed that he generally invariably laughs when I go "Boo" whereas he won't have anything to do with most other sounds. In other words, "Boo" appeals to his funny bone, but I could go "Bing" and "Goo goo" at him all day long without getting the slightest reciprocity.

Now understand me Joe I don't mean to infer that if I went up to any casual bystander passing me on the street and said "Boo" and they laughed (they naturally would under the circumstances but you know what I mean Joe) I don't mean to infer that that would prove they had a sense of humor. Though personally it would be real handy if you could start an enjoyable conversation with people you've just been introduced to by simply saying "Boo" and having them come back with "Goo goo" or some other such baby password, and then everybody going off into paroxysms of laughter!

Well Joe don't take any wooden money. Here's a big kiss (X) from me and a reduced one (x) from baby.

Love, Yvonne
Tessie.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have met quite a few fellows that are nice, but as they are shorter than I, I refused to go out with them. Is it because I am prejudiced to short fellows that I never meet a tall fellow who is nice?

Aren't you ridiculous to make an issue of a man's height? Of course, if you were much taller, I could understand your sensitiveness. On the other hand you may be denying yourself a really nice fellow because that you will regret later, and maybe a perfect dear of a husband, this short one inch or two.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls 13 and 14 years old. We are considered pretty. We have a number of friends who take us to want to go with us. Is it wrong for girls at our age to go out with beaux? Should girls at our age put up their hair in a braid down the back?

MONICA AND YERONICA.

Yes, you are too young to have beaux.

Wear your hair in a braid down the back.

"Florence": Your letter acknowledging the answers to your questions gave me great pleasure. I believe great happiness is in store for you because of your attitude toward the future. You expect to marry. You radiate love for him every time you mention your marriage. I shall be glad to hear from you again. I hope the young man gets his raise soon, because it will bring your great experience close at hand, as you are so close to it. Please accept my best wishes for "our happiness."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 13 and have to work. I am trying to go to night school and find it hard to make ends meet. My father being dead, I try to help my mother as much as I can. Can you suggest anything I can do to earn extra money? This is nothing which takes more courage and strength of will than to work during the day time and attend night school in the evening. It is a struggle that brings results, however. Keep a brave heart and stick to your purpose until you reach the goal.

If you are handy with a needle you could be able to earn a little extra money in various ways. It is so near Christmas time that you could make hand-worked handkerchiefs, sewing aprons and bags for Christmas gifts. Instead of showing your goods in a store you would make more to call personally at different homes and show your work. It would also be profitable to crochet rag rugs and make bedspreads if you are artistic.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl who believes in having a good time. I have plenty of dates. I think I could be criticised? I am a school teacher and like my work. Still I should like to marry. I don't know I go with speak of matrimony. Can you suggest the reason? How can I make men the more seriously? SUEBIE.

The right man has not come along yet. Trust to a higher power in regard to matrimony. Do not try to make men take you too seriously. They will take you to what you really are, and if you appear to be seriously inclined toward matrimony, they may feel that masculine dread of being captured.

SCHOOL GIRLS LEARN HOW TO MIND BABY

Philadelphia—The art of making Philadelphia scrapple, chow-chow, chili sauce, and of preserving fruit is now taught in the public schools.

Instructors in the domestic science department have asked pupils to bring part of their mothers' canning and preserving utensils to school. The youngsters are being taught the best methods of preserving.

Other innovations introduced in local schools in an effort to teach girls (or home-making) are: Little mothers' classes, under supervision of the child federation; grocery stores in some schools to teach arithmetic and economy in buying; millinery and dressmaking in the girls' trade school; school cafeterias with domestic science classes.

In the little "mothers' classes the pupils when they cannot borrow a real baby from one of the mothers in the neighborhood, practice on dolls as large as an average infant. They are taught how to wash and dress the baby and instructed in health rules for its care. Many of the small pupils in the congested districts of the city bring their own wards for the class to "mother."

A Problem and a Prize For the School Children

If a 1½-lb. 15-cent loaf of bread measuring 8 in. in length would be cut into slices, four of which would measure 1½ in., what would be the cost of the waste of three slices too dry to use?

A prize of $1.00 will be awarded to the school pupil (lower than the 7th grade) who solves and brings to us the first correct solution of this problem.

FUR FABRIC COAT FOR DRESS WEAR

By ELOISE.

With the different fur pelts costing fortunes, there has sprung up a large demand for imitation furs, and indeed, many of these imitations are quite as beautiful as the fur itself and often much more durable. One of the cleverest of all the fur imitations is called "park squirrel." It really has more the texture of a bear or seal skin. It is used to make coats and sports jackets as well as street and dress coats.

I found one of the dressier models of this fur fabric quite captivating. It is pictured here and shows what a stunning wrap has been developed in this cleverest of fur imitations. The blouse effect in the back is unique to say the least. This wrap shows a reversal of the usual order of things, the cape back and coat or belted front. Wide bands of embroidery and deep fringe trim the cape effect and the deep cape collar.

WOMEN WHO FRET ABOUT HIGH PRICES SHOULD GO TO CUBA

Havana—American women, disturbed by the mounting cost of living, ought to come to Cuba. The trip would make them satisfied with conditions at home.

Broadly speaking, prices in Havana are just about double the high mark in top notch American cities. One cause, according to dealers, is the unappreciated port congestion, apparently with little hope of early clearing, and which has resulted in the ruin of hundreds of tons of costly products. Whatever the cause, the island is going through a period of high cost, described by papers here as more burdensome than that found elsewhere on the face of the earth.

Even here where it is produced in sufficient bulk to supply millions elsewhere, sugar remains on the Havana market around 24 cents a pound. Grape fruit, going to waste a few miles from town, sells at New York quotations. Whatever the cause, the demand for ready and available cash, and the moratorium, under which banks limit withdrawals to 10 per cent, is forcing dealers to raise prices in the hope of unloading luxuries to meet weekly pay rolls. Until the moratorium ends, Dec. 1, hotels will not permit patrons to sign bar and cafe checks, a time honored custom here. Cash is needed and a man pays when he eats.

Conditions in Havana are of little concern to the wealthy element from the states that will be coming here soon by the thousands for the winter and racing season. But for folk of ordinary means, with two weeks for recreation, a big bank roll is needed. About the lowest hotel rate is $7 a day for room and bath. And this is not at the best places, for these rates are much higher, and along toward the middle of November the $7 rooms will fetch $15.

Americans living in Havana pour out a tale of woe to friends from the states. The women seem to be the hardest hit. Prices in stores selling men's wear show that a good pair of men's low shoes costs as high as $28. The rainy season is not over, and $8 for a reasonably fair suit of clothes out of stock for $100. In most cases women's shirt waists, it was explained, cost three times the normal price. The only exception in the upward trend is the straw hat, the cost of which is about on the American scale.

Cigarettes selling for 20 cents a package, a pack of 40 here, and for a $2 box of American candy they ask $1. Two-cent American papers, three days old, cost 13 cents. You can get a reasonably fair suit of clothes out of stock for $100. In most cases women's shirt waists, it was explained, cost three times the normal price. The only exception in the upward trend is the straw hat, the cost of which is about on the American scale.

SCHOOL SALARIES STILL INADEQUATE

Survey of Public Education System in 359 Cities Is Made.

New York.—The salaries, training and experience of public school teachers in the United States are declared to be "inadequate" by the National Committee for the Public Schools. The committee asserts that the crisis has not been passed.

Three conclusions are drawn in a survey of the schools of 359 cities conducted by the committee, which is composed of 22 secretaries of chambers of commerce and 33 superintendents of schools.

Can Teacher Live? "The thoughtful citizen needs to ask himself," declared Dr. George W. Strayer of Columbia University, chairman of the committee, "in the light of the returns presented by our inquiry, questions like the following:

"Gets-It" Painless Corn Remover

This Corn Remover Is Guaranteed. Throw away that dangerous razor and plaster. Don't waste your time simply "treating" that pestiferous, itching corn! Get rid of it with "Gets-It." Remove it.

The Safe, Sensible, Quick, Painless Corn Remover—"Gets-It."

Simply apply two or three drops of this favorite corn remedy and your pain from THAT corn ceases forever. Then in two or three days, if the corn has not dropped off, take hold with your fingers and lift it off as easily as you peel a banana! You never enjoyed such instant, delightful relief from corn misery, you never used anything so perfect as "Gets-It." It never fails.

"Gets-It" costs but a trifle at any drug store. Money back guaranteed. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

STOMACH O. K.

Indigestion, Acidity, Sourness and Gases ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once. When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache, from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone. The cost is so little. The benefits so great. You, too, will be a Diapepsin enthusiast afterwards.

Can teachers in our community have a comfortable place to live, good food and decent clothes for the amount of money which we pay them? And how can we work in our schools sufficient to enable them to buy books, to subscribe to magazines, to enjoy music, to travel to continue their professional study and otherwise to lead the type of life which makes them the kind of men and women that can be most helpful to my boys and girls? Would I want my son and daughter to go into teaching? Is the recognition given to teachers, in terms of salary, in my city sufficient to attract the ablest of the young men and women in our community? The replies to these inquiries, in view of the findings, must all be in the negative, says Dr. Strayer.

Salaries Are Slow
In 1915-16 one-half of the most elementary teachers in cities with a population of from 5,000 to 30,000 received less than $380. In 1916-17, one-half of the same group were receiving less than $420, an advance of $40 or 10 percent. Meanwhile, it was stated, the cost of living had advanced 104 percent. American cities paid, high school principals an average of $2,500 last year while elementary school principals received an average salary of $1,530. "Many of the salaries paid in these positions requiring the management of complex organizations and skillful leadership," the survey points out, "are not enough to secure a competent secretary." A summary of the survey issued by the committee says:

Laborers Better Paid
"The survey also discloses that the salaries of artisans and laborers throughout the country are much higher on the average than those of teachers. These low salaries have resulted in a serious teacher shortage throughout the country. This demand for teachers is so great that many of the normal schools when their courses have been out half completed. An alarmingly large percentage of the teachers as a result are emergency teachers lacking in proper training for their work."

"Reports from the cities of this survey show that 50 percent of the American cities have had less than six and one-half years of training beyond the junior high school teachers have had less than seven years of training beyond, and that 60 percent of the high school teachers have had less than eight and one-half years."

"Chambers of Commerce in every state have assumed the leadership in conducting campaigns to bring the seriousness of the situation to public attention and organize community forces for improving conditions."

U. W. REGENT BOARD TO BE REORGANIZED

Madison.—Farmer and labor representation on the board of university and normal regents is recommended by the state board of education in its program to be presented to the legislature when it convenes in January. At least two representatives of labor and two of farmers are asked.

One of the urgent demands on the legislature will be for a reorganization of the regents as suggested in the board of education program, according to friends of the plan. They expect support of the governor in their effort to bring about the proposed change.

Similar plans have been brought before the legislators in previous sessions. During the 1916 meeting a bill was introduced in the assembly by H. A. Marth, Wausau, which provided that the board of regents should have 12 members: three to represent labor, three business men, three farmers, and three members of the faculty of the university.

This proposal, after discussion, was indefinitely postponed April 29 by a vote of 56 to 29. This year friends of the proposed change say that it will receive favorable consideration because of the support it is likely to have from the new governor.

The oldest man to enlist in the war against Germany was Adolph Louis Lowe, age 77 years, of Lynnhaven, Va. He signed up as a carpenter's mate, second class, United States Navy, at Norfolk, after having been passed as physically fit by a naval doctor.

News Notes From Movieland

BY DAISY DEAN

SYLVIA BREMER, who is now in New York playing the featured lead, Mimi, with George Arliss in the film production of "The Devil," writes that she must confess she has found that Calumet is the best place in which to make motion pictures. But her confession, or conclusion, was inspired not so much by the distracting attractions of New York.

"New York is a pleasure town to work here," she writes. "I don't want to work here; there is so much to do and so many places—theaters, operas and so on—to go, and I have to hold myself down and lock myself in to remember that work must come first."

Although she hoped to accomplish a little shopping when she reached New York, she has had no time for any such frivolity. George Arliss, appearing in "Poldark" at the Park theater, has had such a pace of hard work in making his first motion picture she has had to devote every minute to keeping up with his speed.

MABEL TALLAFERRO RETURNS
Mabel Tallafferro, star of the seven and eight for many years, will play the role of "The Painted Lady" in the John S. Robertson production of "Barney's Secret" for Paramount. This production will mark the actress' return to the screen after more than a year's absence, also her first appearance under the Paramount banner and her last picture for some time, as she has stage plans in progress.

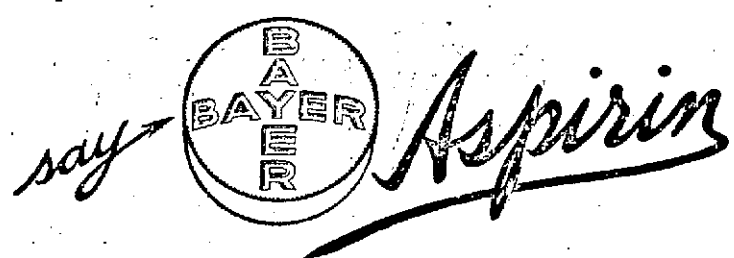

GOSSIPY BITS
Once in the movies apparently the lure of it can never be thrown off. Bessie Love went all the 3,000 or more miles to New York—and when she got there spent most of her time in the motion picture business. Bessie reminds one of her first London bus driver who got his first day off in 10 years and spent it riding cabs in their lives.

WOMAN MAKES GOOD SHOWING IN ELECTION RACE
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee.—Mrs. Lucretia McMillin, wife of a Milwaukee attorney, who was the first woman in Wisconsin to seek legislative honors at the recent election, made what her friends considered a remarkable showing though defeated. Mrs. McMillin entered the race following the primary, as an independent candidate in the Eighteenth assembly district, being backed by the Good Government league, and polled approximately 3,000 votes her regularly nominated republican opponent, who received 4,500 votes.

Mrs. McMillin is well known in educational work and women's club circles throughout the state. She is a daughter of Frank D. Hinkley, member of the Milwaukee chamber of commerce. She graduated with honors from the University of Wisconsin 1899, became a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest honor fraternity in the world, and was made a member of the first chapter of that fraternity formed in Madison. She is also a member of Pi Beta Phi, one of the oldest sororities in the country, able showing though defeated. Mrs. McMillin founded the first women's club in Indian territory, is prominent in club circles in Wisconsin and in the Daughters of the American Revolution.

DARK SECRET FOR BABY
GHOSTS AT MINECROST
BY ELIZABETH STEELE
First Day of Story, "The Shade of Hezekiah Applegate," is a tale of a boy who is a ghost, but it was worth it.

"It all began over Bab and Baba—we were all in the same tent this year at the camp. It was their first year at Pine Crest and they were nervous about sleeping alone, especially in the lower bunks. So every night after lights out, had sounded and the physical director this year—had done inspection the girls climbed into the upper bunk with me. Every time an owl sang or screamed or whatever you call it, they would mean and hide under the covers."

"By Thursday, I was pretty much disgusted. Just to show them how foolish they were I determined to give them something to be frightened about. While they were in swimming in the afternoon, I dug out of my trunk an empty sardine tin left from our last feed and put some stones in it. I tied a spool on a string and put it in the can too. Collingwood's bunk. She had the lower under mine. I concealed the string along the side of the tent and reached it easily."

"We were late for supper as usual, but as we raced up the hill, I managed to tell Bab that I had a piece of news for her but that she must keep it a dark secret. Just to mention 'secret' to Bab was enough to make her hair grow stiff with expectancy. She didn't give me a minute's peace until I told her that one of the campers across the lake had told one of the Pine Crest's old campers that the land around camp was haunted by the ghost of the old pioneer, Hezekiah Applegate, who had murdered his wife."

"I didn't enlarge upon the details because I knew she could do that, and I guess she did, because her eyes simply stuck out and she was whispering to Bab about five minutes later in a corner of the veranda."

STUDY HELPS
Majors and Minors.
It is customary in almost all colleges nowadays to require students to choose a certain major subject and stick to it throughout the whole course. This is the subject on which the most time and study are to be concentrated.

Such an arrangement of study is logical. The most successful man is the one who knows something about all things and all about something. It is well to apply this principle to school work.

Whether or not your school or your teacher insists on your choosing a major study, you should do it nevertheless. Take the one you like best, the one you will use most later on. Learn all there is to be learned about it.

It isn't necessary to neglect the others to do this.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN
Henry W. Longfellow
Dear Papa:
I have been to school all week and got only seven marks. I shall have a billet next Monday. I wish you to buy me a drum.

Henry W. Longfellow.
When Henry's father came back from Boston he brought the drum. Henry unwrapped it with excitement, and, oh, how proud he was of it! It was larger and had brighter colors than the other boys' drums. But Henry did not like noise. He did not want his drum. Just to hang it up, where he could look at it and admire it, was pleasure enough for him.

Perhaps it was his love for beauty rather than noise that made Henry W. Longfellow a great poet.

TARPON FISHING GETS SEN. HARDING

Angling for the Silver Glory of the Gulf—Beats Golf.

By T. H. B. FARMAN.
Copyright 1920 by Janesville Gazette.
Point Isabel, Texas, Nov. 12.—Fishing like poker is a key that unlocks the private confidence of a man. A man's liking for the not always gentle art of angling, his ways and methods of pursuing the big and little fish of the sea and his reaction to bad luck and good reveal phases of his character and disposition that otherwise can be but vaguely comprehended. Therefore, fishing brings out unsuspected resemblances between men who were not bracketed in the public mind. Warren G. Harding is singularly like the late Grover Cleveland.

Harding is a fisherman. It is not important or especially interesting that President-elect Harding has become a devotee of fishing which was the chiefest of all delightful sports to President Cleveland. It is important that Harding is very much the kind of person that William McKinley was. This idea appears to be based upon a trace of facial resemblance more than upon anything else. There are more points of difference between Harding and McKinley than there are similarities. On the other hand there seem to be many more resemblances between Harding and Cleveland than there are dissimilarities.

As the President-elect plunged into the exciting sport of tarpon fishing he went at the job pretty much as Cleveland was wont to do. He displayed the same quality of patience and persistency. He was cool and cautious and skilled even at a game in which he was the absolute novice. He was a tarpon angler upon his hook he was not unduly elated and he was not unduly disappointed. He fought a long but not a successful fight to land the 300-pounder just as Cleveland was accustomed to do.

Then when his tackle broke and the giant sea runner leaping high in the air bore downward through the churning waters of the pass that connects the Gulf of Mexico and Laguna Madre and disappeared, the President-elect took to his heels. He was quiet, almost complacent, resigning that marked the great Grover Cleveland. It will be recalled, liked nothing better than to slip away from the duties of his office for a few days in the jovial company of a few good fellows he liked for themselves alone. Common sense and a way for dropping the cares of office when he wanted to play with his fish-companions, usually he was close to his friends, this ready shedding of good and his strong liking for good fellows is a marked characteristic of Harding. Another thing, like Cleveland, he has a way of absorbing ideas and suggestions at the same time and transferring decision and action until he is positively and absolutely sure of his ground. Like Cleveland he is his ground, without being too much so.

Harding and Cleveland. Like Cleveland and he has a touch of the old-fashioned about him, like Cleveland he is stickler for the constitution and for the early republic. Like Cleveland he possesses a very high kind of moral courage and can put his foot down as heavily and as resolutely as Cleveland ever could. The more one studies Harding and recalls the salient points of the character of the late Grover Cleveland, the more one is astonished at the many points of agreement. It is safe to say, it is even a thing to be borne in mind, that in its general atmosphere, in its tone and color, the administration of Warren G. Harding will be like the administration of Grover Cleveland. The old types are a much more solid, rather slow, deeply sincere, pleasure-loving, yet yet work-devouring, friendly style of fiercely patriotic American citizen.

Tarpon Fishing Beats Golf. Speaking of tarpon, it can be written that the ancient game of golf is near to losing one of its most ardent and passionately fond of it. Before Senator Harding stopped into a launch and shot out to the sea front, off two miles from the sea front, off Point Isabel, there to strike a great silver fish, play him and lose him, he would rather play golf than fish. It was about his one and only out of the door sport. He loved it. In the odd moments of the front porch, the palm to the Columbus or the little rubber over many acres of smooth turf. He came down here to Texas partly to play golf and partly to escape the busy office society. Then they took him fishing and he surrendered. He lost a man, said out all day.

Senator Harding went out to fish early in the morning and they couldn't drag him off Laguna Madre and away from those fascinating silver tarpon till evening had come. He refused to return to lunch and Mrs. Harding knowing her husband, reasonably well said to this effect: "Harding will get a tarpon, he always gets what he goes after." It is safe to string bets along with the lady. Harding will get a tarpon if he has to fish every hour of his stay here at Point Isabel. He wants the tarpon because it, or one like it, got away from him. Harding doesn't like to let things get away from him. In this too his methods resemble one of the way Cleveland used to do things.

At Point Isabel. Although the attractions of Point Isabel, which is merely a ragged, straggling, little Mexican hamlet perched upon the edge of an inlet of the Gulf of Mexico, are decidedly overrated to him, nevertheless he is already showing that the trip is benefiting him. His eyes are brighter, his step is a pound or two of superfluous flesh. The sun is coloring his face. Like Job he can count on his fingers he is helping a collection of United States senators and other persons to acquire a certain effect in sunburn. In other words, the next President is having a peach of a time.

Alaskan Dogs Fly 4,000 Miles From North With New-York-Nome Aviators

Lieut. Eric C. Nelson and two of the dogs, photographed on arrival of the aviators at Nome, Alaska.

New York—The darling band of U. S. army aviators who flew from Minneapolis, L. I., to Nome, Alaska, and back are now over to officials the valuable information they collected on their 9,000-mile trip. It was not alone that they had flown 9,000 miles in 11 hours in the air without a mishap that is worth mentioning, although that in itself is a challenging record. The trans-Alaska dog team only 1,900 miles; the Cape to Cairo flight, the London to Sydney jaunt and the Italian cruise from Rome to Tokyo all earned the aviators a reputation, but none of them presented the peculiar dangers and difficulties of the New York to Alaska journey.

A large part of the trip was over absolutely unexplored territory, unmapped or charted only on the unreliable statements of trappers. Mountains which it has been said were only 5,000 feet high proved to thrust their summits more than 12,000 feet into the sky. For stretches of 200 or 300 miles there was no possible landing in the event of engine trouble.

Moreover, beyond Dakota such landing fields as a scout ahead of the flyers had been able to locate were of the roughest. Some were literally hewn out of the forest. Others were stubble fields from which the wheat had just been cut. At Prince George it was necessary to reimburse owners of wheat to induce an early cut so the aviators could land.

The weather, too, was such as no other flyers have been forced to face. Valleys filled with fog between towering peaks, sudden gales howling around the bases of the hills, long storms which held the men earth-bound for days on end, afforded material for their Alaska logs.

Hordes of reindeer and caribou, bear, mountain sheep and other game were frequently sighted by the men as they flew over the mountains. Lieut. Eric C. Nelson, engineering officer, who took turns with Lieut. Clifford C. Nutt in flying Plane No. 2, noticed a bear during the enforced stay at Telaraph Creek. Over Behring sea beluga whale were sighted.

One great aim of the trip, the mapping of unexplored Alaska from the air, was defeated by bad weather. Some 150 exposures were made along strips 1,800 feet high on the route, but the expedition started too late to get the best conditions for photography.

The men brought back with them on the 4,000-mile return trip Alaskan dogs, the kind that have won the all-Alaska sweepstake races by their endurance and faithfulness.

ARISTOCRATS OF OLD GERMAN ARMY ARE LOOKING FOR JOBS

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin—Many of the 50,000 German officers discharged since the signing of the armistice have joined the great army of unemployed in Germany, a few have gone to work at hard labor and others are trying to make small pensions pay for the expensive necessities of mere existence.

Officers belonging to old, aristocratic, once wealthy families are in a better situation than their colleagues who relied for their living upon their army pay. They have long since disposed of most of their personal property and it is not uncommon to see one of them, suppressing his pride, and offering to some foreigner a family heirloom for enough money to pay a grocery bill.

Those who are doing hard labor must work half a day for the price of a pound of meat and all day for a pound of butter. A number of them have been unable to buy civilian clothes and are working in uniforms thin and frayed by much wear.

The wives and sisters of some of these men have gone into the shops where they earn 350 marks a month, a sum which a guest at any one of the international hotels frequently pays for a single meal. The widow of a colonel who was killed at the front is supporting four children on a pension of less than 700 marks a month.

Former soldiers, and particularly the wounded whose pensions are small, are in a worse position. They have been hard hit. Day and night they may be seen standing on the streets with cap in hand, begging, or sitting on the ground, shivering in their uniforms, or parts of uniforms, and some of them, to induce pity, exhibit their wounds.

When a purse of a few marks was collected for him he accepted it and thanked the donors.

Counterfeit Polish Passports Are Issued

(By Associated Press.)

Paris—Scores of counterfeit Polish passports have been issued in the last few weeks to persons going to the United States, according to the Paris police, who say they were sold for from 500 to 1,000 francs to persons to whom the authorized Polish consulate refused to give visas.

A traveling bear dressed in a suit and rubber stamps, one of which was the counterfeit American form, was taken by the police who watched a beggar console until a man known as the former Russian Lieutenant Szamansky went there for his outfit. This brought about the arrest of his two confederates.

STORY OF ARMISTICE DAY IN JANESVILLE

was subdivided into two separate sections, the first section led by Director W. T. Thiele, marching after the fire company. The band's service flag containing seven stars was displayed. Next came the 125 ex-soldiers and members of the Richmond Mills Janesville Post of the American Legion, under command of Lieut. L. J. Woodworth. Overseas uniforms were prominent. The platoons were headed "B" cavalry, created near the front. Following came three cars bearing members of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Forty members of Company "I," tank corps, were next in line under command of Capt. R. D. Harmon and Lieutenants Hilt and Thiele. Troop "B" cavalcade, marching along the line of march it being their first public appearance here mounted. There were 25 on horses, the outfit being commanded by Capt. L. O. Chamberlain and Lieutenants Duthe and West. Eleven members of the Salvation Army in charge of Bishop Hilt, of the "B" cavalry, and a band of workers which related to the minds of ex-soldiers men the great work the organization did in France.

Eagles Have Prize Float. The second division of the parade was headed by the second section of the Bower City band with a beautiful white float of the Eagles' lodge (No. 100). Marching behind the float was a delegation of 40 Eagles. The Moose lodge had a delegation of 20 members and a car containing 17 children, supported by a band carrying the lodge's slogan, "Howdy Pop."

A white float of the Royal Neighbors of America No. 4084, bearing seven members of the lodge, two buses carrying west side kindergarten pupils. Then came the 1,500 school children, wearing red, white and blue caps and waving flags. Their teachers accompanied them. The float of the Y. M. C. A. was the windup of the parade. On it were carried baskets of medicine balls, volleyballs, boxing gloves and score of other articles of athletic equipment, in charge of A. E. Bergman, physical director. Three "Y" men, Messrs. Grubb and Sullivan, performed stunts on the "horse" which was carried on the platform of the truck.

Streets in Gay Air. Flags and bunting were interspersed throughout the line of march, making the streets one grand array of color. Marching behind the float were stores and buildings, and flags hung along the trolley wires and boulevard lights by the fire department, added to the gala appearance.

The parade moved south on Main street, to Court, then west on Pleasant to Academy, north to Milwaukee, east on Milwaukee to Bluff and south on Bluff to the court house park where it disbanded.

700 Park Theater. The city's enthusiasm did not lessen during the two hour interval between the time the parade dispersed until the doors of the Myers theatre were opened to admit those desiring to pay special tribute to the living and the dead through ceremony. Several hundred people, still facing the east in spirit of thanksgiving, for the close of the great war through the signing of the armistice, crowded into the building that had been empty only a few minutes before of a vaudeville audience.

Exercises Are Solemn. There is an atmosphere of solemnity marked by lines of khaki clad ex-soldiers men in the front rows and a stage crowded with officials of the city seated before a huge American flag, exercises took place that held the gathering in a tight grip. For more than an hour and a half, there were no particular outstanding features of the services—everything that took place stood out distinct in itself. From the opening with the audience singing the "Star Spangled Banner" as the band played; the heart-touching reading of the names of the deceased soldiers of the great war from Janesville and vicinity; the moment of silence as taps were sounded on the stage to be echoed at home; the solemn prayer; the singing of "Whispering Hope" by N. O. Behlke; then a rousing address by Rev. E. R. Dow, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; the martial scene of the presentation of Victory medals to ex-soldiers men; the reading of letters from the front; the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by General John J. Pershing, Governor Philipp, General Woods and Hahn, and others, and in closing the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" through all these not a stir except for cheers went through the gathering.

Heroes of the great war—American heroes—were eulogized by the speaker of the day, Mr. Dow, who had seen 13 months of service in well-known work overseas, five of them in the trenches. Addressing the people with the knowledge of conditions as they actually existed during the participation of the United States in the bloodiest of bloody conflicts, he used words of such praise and patriotism that they seemed to carry the scene back into the days of Liberty loan drives, Red Cross campaigns and mass meetings while the conflict was raging and the boys were crossing the lanes of the seas in columns of ships.

Declaring that America won the war because her men fought "not like hell, but like heaven," they fought not in the spirit of hatred and slavery, but of freedom and salvation to put down despotism, he called upon the nation to get back to normal conditions.

Watch the Traitors. "We must watch," he said, "watch the traitors that still dwell here, that dwell here in the war, but who now have a better chance to do their treacherous work while they are not being watched by the secret service and a million tongues ever ready to corner them."

"We must watch the Godless and the criminal interests, but above all we must watch the traitors."

Patriotism, he pointedly announced, is spelled pro-duc-tion. And he went on:

"This is no time for selfishness. This is no time to close the mills and factories and shops. It is no time for men who made millions in the war to shut down now in order to save millions and a falling market. They should give a few millions, or billions, to the charity of commerce to settle things. (Applause.)"

No Time for Strikes. "And it is no time to strike. Now is the time to labor and when America is back to normal conditions then strike and fight if you cannot bring adjustment about by arbitration. (Applause.)"

"It is no time for the farmers to strike. * * * They have had a mighty good reputation for generations, while they did not have a chance to pile up gold during the war. Like manufacturers, they must not think only of their own selfish interests."

"If we are really going to get back to normal, we must bring back the hardy spirit of our country. Last year I traveled thousands of miles and with a dozen exceptions never saw a single flag flying. We have pulled down the flag and laid it away except for special occasions. It is absolutely and criminally wrong. The boys who died during the war and since by the thousands that that flag may not be sullied, deserve better than that."

GRAIN

Chicago, Nov. 12.—General selling forced all grain today to the lowest level since 1916. Uncertainty over the financial outlook and industrial conditions were leading factors. However, it was felt definitely that the British royal commission and the Belgian government were of the opinion that the market this morning. Opening wheat quotations, which ranged from 1.15 to 1.17, were followed by a rally which, however, was not well maintained.

Subsequent indications of export business with Italy had only a transient stimulating influence. The market recovered a little and then sagged again.

Ons reflected the weakness of other cereals, although only to a slight extent. Wheat declined to 1.15, and descending to 1.14, owing to grain weakness.
